

HELP SAVE THE RAINFORESTS

The Rainforest Information Centre has launched the world's first

CYBER JUKEBOX BENEFIT FOR RAINFORESTS

The rainforests are the womb of life. They are home to half of the world's ten million species of plants and animals. Volunteers from the Australian Rainforest Information Centre (also known as RIC) have been working for 20 years to defend all over the the world. (see www.forests.org/ric/)

RIC's latest fundraiser for Ecuador rainforests is a jukebox on the internet –

Popular Australian artists have donated music tracks which stream from this site and you can listen to their songs for free

RIC has sponsors who make a donation to the rainforest for each person who visits the jukebox. Each visitor results in another 2 sq ft. of rainforest being purchased and protected. Please help the rainforest by visiting the jukebox - tell you friends!
